CHALLENGES AHEAD...

Sustainability and Scientific Publications

Focus on the Sustainability Committee

The ESAIC is advocating for increased environmental consciousness in our practices and the facilities in which we work. Physician anaesthesiologists can lead by improving operating room design, anaesthetic agent choice and management, and waste disposal and diversion, and can mitigate the negative environmental effect of anaesthetic practice in all its forms.

The Sustainability Committee covers the following 4 core areas in order to reduce carbon footprint resulting in greener healthcare systems:

1. Medication choice and use;
2. Energy use;
3. Circularity in processes and waste;
4. Professional wellbeing, quality of life.

Meet the key stakeholders of the Sustainability Committee during dedicated ESAIC Expo sessions.

Chair: Patricio González-Pizarro (Madrid, Spain)

How can I make my own Life Cycle Analysis (LCA) on perioperative care?

Speaker: Jodi Sherman (New Haven, United States)

Focus on the European Journal of Anaesthesiology (EJA)

The EJA is the official Society's Scientific Journal with over 40 years of publication history. EJA has established itself as a respected and influential journal in the field by continuously covering a wide range of topics related to anaesthesiology and intensive care medicine, including perioperative medicine, pain management, critical care, resuscitation, and patient safety. The journal publishes original research, review articles, case reports, editorials, and features special issues and supplements on specific themes. EJA also provides guidelines and consensus statements developed by the ESAIC. It is a go to resource for professionals seeking new knowledge, ideas, and techniques for their clinical practice. EJA contributes to the advancement of the field and provides valuable resources for researchers and clinicians.
